

CORDIAL WELCOME GIVEN TO BRYCE

Former British Ambassador at Washington Guest of Honor at Dinner.

TENDERED BY THE PILGRIMS

Devotes Part of Speech to Replying to Criticisms Made by Conservatives.

London, November 6.—A large and distinguished gathering welcomed the Hon. James Bryce, late British Ambassador at Washington, at the dinner given in his honor by the Pilgrims to-night. The American Ambassador, Walter H. Page, read messages from the President of the United States, Joseph E. Choate, former ambassador at London and others. President Wilson's message was as follows:

"Few men have done more than James Bryce in strengthening the ties of friendship and brotherhood which unite England and America, and have been the cause of common aspiration and high example to the whole world."

Mr. Bryce began his speech by expressing the belief that the Panama question will be solved in a manner satisfactory to both countries. That belief, he said, was based on his conviction of the rectitude and elevated sense of honor and international justice possessed by President Wilson.

Replies to Criticisms.

A large part of Mr. Bryce's speech was devoted indirectly and directly to replying to criticisms made by the Conservative press of his work as ambassador. He emphasized the idea that the British ambassador to the United States had to deal with problems between Canada and the United States, for Canada's interests were as important to the empire as were England's. He then made a direct reply to these criticisms, saying he would not

Simplicity

Almost daily we have new depositors tell us that they had no idea it was so easy to open a savings account here.

Some seem to think that you need a lot of money to open an account in a big bank like this one—as a matter of fact, any sum, $1 or more, will open your account.

OPENING AN ACCOUNT IS SIMPLICITY ITSELF. START TO-DAY. WE ALLOW 3% COMPOUNDED SEMIANNUALLY.

Starting early is much more important than starting big. Begin to-day. Don't be ashamed to bring in a small sum. We want the small depositor.

have noticed them except for the important principle involved.

An ambassador to a foreign country, he said, acted merely as the agent of his government and carried out the instructions of his government. The critics acted in ignorance, because the only persons who knew what the ambassador was trying to do were his foreign office and himself. The danger was that criticisms of an ambassador by the press of his own country had the effect of weakening his status and prestige with the country to which he was accredited.

Introducing Mr. Bryce to the Pilgrims, the American ambassador, Mr. Page, who presided, paid a high tribute to Mr. Bryce.

Mr. Bryce remained through the time of three Presidents, and all of them had expressed to Mr. Page the high opinion and sincere esteem in which they held him.

Honors Nobly Won.

"I welcome him home," Mr. Page said, "as the ambassador emeritus to the American people. All his blushing honors have been nobly won."

The American ambassador, then spoke of Mr. Bryce's great popularity in every State, all of which the ex-ambassador had visited. The only honors America could confer, he said, were academic and Mr. Bryce had more of these from American colleges than even "that least quiet academician" who is now harvesting a crop of such honors in South America.

After thanking the Pilgrims for their welcome back to England, Mr. Bryce said that when he resigned his place in the Cabinet more than six years ago and went to the United States in order to try to settle a number of long outstanding questions, he foresaw a difficult task.

Everybody, the speaker said, had made him feel at home in America. He had been treated like one of their own citizens, indeed, better, for he had been spared the criticism which in all modern countries is so liberally bestowed upon public men.

Old Questions Settled.

"When Secretary of State," Mr. Bryce continued, "began to make treaties, the first thing we did was to make friends with one another, and friendship is a great aid to business. I found in Mr. Root not only a brilliant intellect, but an eminently fair mind."

Here the good will of the two nations was behind the negotiations, and the questions that had been outstanding between us, and among these that old and thorny controversy over the North Atlantic fisheries, which had more than once threatened their good relations.

"Not ruling either from America, I have two things to say to the British Pilgrims gathered here as friends of the American people. First, is that you must not take too seriously the lurid pictures of American life drawn in some organs of the European press."

"In Washington I used to be struck by the dark view which the press was from England conveyed of British events and conditions, a view which I know to be misleading. Here, a same things happened, cable messages and the vivid pens of correspondence inevitably heightened the color. Unlike stocks, news would be the best by being watered while coming to us."

"My other message is to assure you that the friendship you entertain for the people of the United States is really and far more universal than you are before. There is a friendship of governments and a friendship of nations. The former may shift with the shifting of material interests and be affected by the relations of each power with other powers. But the latter rests on solid and permanent foundations. With our two peoples it is based on a community of speech, of literature, of institutions, of beliefs, of traditions from the past, of ideals for the future. In all these things the British and American peoples are closer than any two other peoples can be. Nature and history have meant them to be friends."

Mr. Bryce said it was the duty of the two peoples to show others the way into their peaceful understanding.

THREE PRECINCTS ARE THROWN OUT

If Action Is Sustained, Gorman
Will Win in Norfolk by Thirty-Four Votes.

Norfolk, Va., November 6.—Three precincts, two of them returning majorities for Citizens' party candidates in Tuesday's election, to-day were thrown out. They are the Fourth, Twelfth and Fifteenth. Failure of the judges to tabulate the returns and the use of only one poll book are the reasons alleged for throwing out the precincts.

The election commissioners to-day summoned the judges of the precincts to appear before them to-morrow when the matter will be given a thorough hearing. If the action is sustained, Edward J. Gorman, defeated candidate for city collector, will be re-elected by a majority of thirty-four, and W. S. Benstein, organization candidate for the Legislature, defeated on the face of the returns, will win over W. P. Cousins.

The Citizens' party managers are still talking of contesting the election of James V. Treacy, who has a majority of 199 over R. W. Peatross for reelection as clerk of the Corporation Court. The most conservative followers of the Citizens' party and the newpapers do not think the contest will materialize. The election just passed is considered by both sides to have been one of the fairest ever held in this city.

The official party strength in the State this year is determined by the vote for chief judge. Willard Bartlett, the Democratic candidate also appeared in the Independence League column. The Socialist candidate, Henry L. Stobodin, polled 32,794 votes in New York City. The Socialist vote here in the last municipal election, but fell a few hundred behind the vote for Debs, the party's candidate for President in 1912.

According to figures received to-day by the Call, the local Socialist newspaper, the party made its best showing in Hamilton, Shelby, Canal Dover, Fenimore, Martin's Ferry, Ohio, where it captured the city government. In Paterson, N. J., where it was candidate for Mayor ran a close second. In Erie, Pa., where it elected several municipal officers, and in Haverhill, Mass., where Charles F. Merrill, a well-known Socialist, was elected to the State House of Representatives for the fifth time.

Contest Is Clear Cut.

Chicago, November 6.—Governor H. W. Johnson, of California, was guest of honor at a dinner given by the Chicago Progressive Club to-night. Of the Massachusetts election he said:

"The theatre of action from the national standpoint was Massachusetts. Here was neither complication nor pretense. Here, the Progressive candidate for Governor, was militantly progressive. Gardner, the Republican candidate, represented the embittered opposition to progressivism."

"Side by side with reactionaries and the apologists of that year there fought, in behalf of Gardner, those nearly Progressive and the entire progressive community. The result was a clear-cut victory for the Progressive party. The Progressive party is second."

"Only in Massachusetts was the contest clear cut. In New Jersey the Republican candidate staked his fortunes on his advocacy of Roosevelt and his own assumed progressivism. The issue there was obscure. In Massachusetts the question was 'Which party shall survive, the Republican or the Progressive?' Massachusetts answered in no uncertain tone."

Fare Poorly in Election.

Boston, Mass., November 6.—The Socialist, Prohibition and Socialist-Labor candidates fared poorly in the State election Tuesday. The total vote for the three candidates for Governor, with a few towns missing and estimated, was:

Socialist, 8,537; Prohibition, 2,052; Socialist-Labor, 1,921.

The State vote in 1912 was:

Socialist, 11,433; Prohibition, 2,702; Socialist-Labor, 2,215.

None of these parties polled 3 per cent of the total vote necessary to obtain official recognition.

Henderson and Kephart Win.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Philadelphia, November 6.—Semi-official figures filed show that John J. Henderson and John W. Kephart have been elected to the Superior Court. Kephart made a spectacular fight. He apparently was without backing, and spent in the neighborhood of $20,000 through newspaper advertising and circulation answering the question "Who is Kephart?"

He defeated James Alcorn and Webster Grim, both of whom had organization backing.

Roosevelt Politically Dead.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Atlanta, Ga., November 6.—Theodore Roosevelt is politically dead, according to Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin. La Follette bases his opinion on the recent elections.

"The result in New Jersey," said La Follette, "just about indicates the future of the so-called Progressive party. The Progressive vote in the national election was about 119,000. The Progressive vote in this election was only 5,000."

"It is practically the same all over the country. The Progressive vote in the national election was not a Roosevelt vote at all. It was simply a vote of protest against the conditions in the two big parties."

"The Republican party will be reorganized as a real Progressive, no one-man affair, and most of Roosevelt's followers will return."

"I want to say, also," concluded the Senator, "that I don't believe Tammany can come back. The people won't stand for bosses of the Murphy type. Tammany can only come back as a clean organization."

MURPHY WILL NOT LOSE LEADERSHIP WITHOUT FIGHT

There is plenty of time, and I shall listen to all."

Mrs. William J. Gaynor, widow of the former Mayor, sent the following message of congratulation: "Congratulations upon your success. You have a difficult task before you. I wish you goodspeed."

John Redmond, the Irish leader, sent the following:

"Heartiest congratulations to John Mitchell's grandson on his election as Mayor of New York."

Werner's Election Claimed.

New York, November 6.—The election of William E. Werner, Republican, as chief judge of the Court of Appeals, was claimed to-night by William Barnes, Jr., Republican State legislator. Early returns had indicated a plurality for Willard Bartlett, Democratic and Independence League candidate.

Mr. Barnes conceded that the Republicans had not elected a sufficient number of Republicans to the State Assembly to control the lower house. There, he said, were seventy-four members. He said, while seventy-six are needed for a majority.

Chairman Barnes claimed the two votes necessary for Republican control would be secured from among thirty-one members of completed terms. Independence men whose election was brought about through coalition of Progressives either with the Republicans or the Democrats. Mr. Barnes claims that the Progressives elected only four Assemblymen. He conceded the election of forty-one Democrats.

The official count is awaited to show whether the Socialists or the Independence League are entitled to rank as the fourth party in New York, and nominate their candidates at the next election without party backing. Socialists asserted to-day that they had retained their relative position—after the Republicans, Democrats and Progressives.

CHARACTER IN Women's Apparel

There is such a thing in clothes just as much as there is in persons. Some people you know are of such character as to comport themselves up to expectations under any and all circumstances.

Some clothes will do the same, but not all clothes will do it.

Character in clothes costs something---a good deal sometimes.

Sometimes at first glance they look alike to the unpracticed eye, but they do not fool anybody in the final analysis. When they're taken off for the last time you can realize whether you have dressed both well and economically.

M'COMBS WILL BE MARRIED TO-DAY

Democratic National Committeeman to Wed Miss Dorothy Williams.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

London, November 6.—William P. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is to be married to-morrow to Miss Dorothy Williams, of Washington. Miss Williams is a sister of Mrs. Joseph H. Williams, U. S. A., retired.

The marriage will take place in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Peter and St. Edward, Belgrave.

"I first met Miss Williams at the inauguration of President Wilson. We have been engaged for several months and the marriage has been deferred only because of my recent operation for appendicitis. I am quite well now."

"The ceremony is to be performed to-morrow by Father Bernard Vaughan, who is well known in the United States. The best man will be Charles W. Hays, an old Princeton classmate of mine, who is now in London on his honeymoon. We will return to New York shortly after the ceremony."

A brilliant assemblage of guests will attend the wedding, including the wives of many of the other notables who are the guests of honor at the wedding. The bride and groom will leave for their honeymoon on the night of the wedding.

TRAIN IS HELD UP BY LONE ROBBER

Unmasked, Man Gets Money and Watches From Passengers on Burlington Fast Mail.

Omaha, Neb., November 6.—The Burlington's fast mail train No. 9, from Chicago to the coast was held up at midnight to-night between Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha, and the Pullman passengers robbed. The hold-up was perpetrated by one man, unmasked, who secured about $300 and a half dozen watches. He remained on the car until the train reached the Omaha depot, when he coolly clambered down and escaped into the railroad yards near the depot. Every reserve policeman in the city was thrown into the yards as quickly as possible, but the hold-up man has not been captured.

The train stopped at the Union Pacific transfer station in Council Bluffs, and but one passenger got aboard. He entered the Pullman with a gun in either hand.

Standing with his back to the door, he covered the passengers, waving the guns back and forth to take in everybody. Then in a quiet voice he ordered all passengers into one end of the car. Before he could keep them all in sight, he took the men, one at a time, pressed a revolver into the small of the back and ordered the money and jewelry produced.

"And you fellows make a move and I'll kill this fellow and then all of you before I'm caught," said the robber.

There were five passengers and three trainmen in the car, and all were robbed. As the robber did the job the train pulled into the Omaha depot, and the robber made his get-away.

DANIEL O'REILLY DEAD.

Former Prominent Lawyer and Ex-Convict Expires at His Home.

New York, November 6.—Daniel O'Reilly, lawyer and ex-convict, died at his home here to-day. He was forty-two years old. During his career he had been associated with the defense in several notorious criminal cases, among them being the trials of Nan Patterson, Captain Peter Hains and Harry K. Thaw.

O'Reilly's death, his friends assert, was directly due to the prison sentence imposed upon him for receiving $35,000 worth of bonds stolen from Aaron J. Bancroft, an aged broker, two and one-half years ago. For this he served five months at Blackwell's Island.
